

Work Related

Learning-

Geography Skills

September 2021

For our Work Related Learning, we looked closely at jobs which require geographical skills to be used. We looked closely at Chris, who is a volcanologist. We learnt of how he undertakes his work with a geographical focus including utilising map skills, taking physical photographs of different geographical features and studying different temperatures. We then looked at different maps and tried to spot similar features to Chris.